REMINISCENSES OF OUR PIONEER DAYS

Gleanings From the Records Left By Men Who Laid the Foundation of Our County.

HAPPENINGS OF 1864 AND 1865

Observance of Second Anniversary of the Institution of Bay View Lodge---Discovery of Oil.

At the annual election of officers for the Jefferson Cavalry, designated as "Company H," a considerable change was made in the officials of the command. The new officers were as follows: S. H. Snyder, captain; J. O. Shaw, first lieutenant; Eugene Walker, second lieutenant; Charles Tilton, third lieutenant; Andrew Teague, first sergeant; W. T. Burch, second sergeant; L. Maxwell, third sergeant; Martin Kuck, fourth sergeant; D. E. Carr, fifth sergeant; Pliny Plimpton, Joseph Thornton, L. A. Parsons, John Jamieson, corporals. The civil officers were Curtis Baird, secretary, and Ambrose Saunders, treasurer.

On the 4th of October, the members of Bay View Lodge of Odd Fellows celebrated the second anniversary of its organization. The exercises incident to the occasion were of a public nature and were held in the new Congregational Church, to which the members marched from their hall in their regalia. The exercises were attended by a very considerable gathering of members of the Order and their friends. The exercises were presided over by the Grand Master, J. A. McClellan, assisted by Andrew Teague, the noble grand of the lodge. The oration, which was the chief portion of the program, was delivered by Past Grand Representative Nathan Porter. No public banquet was given, but the visiting grand officers and the elective officers of the lodge were entertained at dinner by one of the sister Rebekahs. In the evening the lodge gave a dance at the Concert Hall, in the Courthouse, which was largely attended.

That the voting population of the county was not increasing with any great rapidity at this time is shown by the returns of the Presidential election. Although the differences of opinion as to the conduct of the war were somewhat strong in this section and were calculated to bring out practically every voter, a total of but 978 votes were cast. Of these the majority for the Union, or Lincoln, Ticket was 223.

The first fatal accident to be recorded on the San Francisco and San Jose Railroad occurred on December 17th, the victim being E. A. Hudson, conductor of the freight train. The accident occurred at what was known as School House Station, where a freight car ran off the track and was thrown from an embankment, falling nearly 20 feet. Hudson was on the car at the time and in the fall was thrown underneath, where he was so seriously crushed as to cause instant death. Deceased was a young man, being but 28 years of age, and was very popular among the patrons of the road, as well as enjoying the highest of public esteem.

Washington's Birthday was celebrated in this town with considerable enthusiasm. The chief feature of the day was a parade by the Jefferson Cavalry, the company appearing in full uniform and parading mounted. In the evening a ball was given by the Company, which was well attended.

The inauguration of President Lincoln was celebrated here by an elaborate display of fireworks and the firing of an anvil salute. In the latter part of the evening a ball was given, at which there was a very considerable gathering of the citizens of both sexes. During an intermission in the dancing, an oration appropriate to the occasion was delivered by H. A. Reed. In its report of these festivities, the Gazette jokingly refers to Mr. Reed as "the man who always keeps on hand a good assortment of Ready Made Clothing and Ready Made Speeches."

On the 15th of March, Alice, the wife of T. W. Lathrop, died in this city after a very short illness, at the age of 20 years. The funeral services were held on the 18th, and were attended by the members of Bay View Lodge, I. O. O. F., of which Mr. Lathrop was one of the most prominent members.

On the 1st of April construction work was commenced on a new hotel on the site of the old American Hotel, which had been destroyed by fire a few months previous to this time. The new hotel was being built for D. W. Aldrich, who had been conducting the Tremont House in this city, and was planned to be one of the largest and finest buildings of its character outside of San Francisco.

As an evidence of the somewhat crude ideas which prevailed at this time of the nature of tee product from which our kerosene oil is obtained, as well as some os the "wild goose" predictions of the possible resources of the county, the following is quoted from the issue of the Gazette of April 1st, 1865: "We find in our exchanges that much is said about coal oil discoveries in various parts of the state, and that many companies are forming and that large amounts of capital are being invested. That is all very well, but we wish it distinctly understood that San Mateo county will make as good, if not better, showing of coal oil than any other county in the state. We have some samples of rock in our office, from the bed of the Purissima Creek, near B. G. Lathrop's Sulphur Springs, that is so completely saturated with coal oil that it will burn almost equal to a kerosene lamp. Oil springs are to be found oh the hills in this vicinity. With such evidence, why may we not rival Oil Creek in Pennsylvania. If oil is struck on this creek, as we believe it will be, if it is found anywhere, it can be conveyed in pipes at a trifling expense immediately on board of vessels.

Taxes, which for a few years past had been an extreme burden and the cause of more than usual complaint, gradually took a lowering tendency, and for one or two years had been at a comparatively normal rate. For the year 1865, however, the rate was made unusually low, the county rate being fixed at 65 cents, as against $1.75 for the previous year. The total rate for state and county purposes for the previous year had been $2.67, while for this year the rate was reduced to $1.90.

For some time there had been a strong feeling among the people that there was grave danger that this county, together with the counties of San Francisco and Santa Clara, were not being given a square deal by the corporation controlling the Railroad, and that there was grave danger that the money subscribed toward the building of the road and for which stock in the corporation had been taken, was liable to be lost entirely. Many claimed that the directors of the corporation were juggling with the records and business of the company, and that the promised dividends were liable to become of the "Irish" character. This feeling finally became so strong that it reached the proceedings and official notice of the Board of Supervisors and Horace Hawes was appointed a commissioner to make an investigation af the business and management of the Company on behalf of the county. The investigations and work of Mr. Hawes finally resulted in an agreement with some of the chief officials and stockholders of the road by which the county was enabled to dispose of its stock and to escape the burden of the bond issue made for the purpose of assisting in the financing of the enterprise. At the meenting of the Supervisors on the 3d of April Mr. Hawes submitted his report of the findings and agreements he had been able to reach, which was a very lengthy and comprehensive document. While Santa Clara County appeared to take no interest in the matter, San Francisco county was equally alive to the threatened danger, and the Supervisors of that county appointed a commission of three of their members for a similar investigation. These acted in conjunction with Mr. Hawes, and he was selected as chairman of the investigating committee, and a thorough investigation of the books and affairs of the company were made. During the time occupied by this investigation several important changes in the control of the company were made. T. Dame, who had been president of the company, sold out his stock and retired from dhe directorate, resigning his office. Messrs. Houston and McLaughlin, who had been the contractors for the building of the road and had become its largest stockholders, and were members of the board of directors also disposed of their stock and resigned from the directorate. This left as the remaining directors H. M. Newhall, Peter Donahue, C. B. Polhemus and John Center, the first three having by the transactions and changes become the owners of a majority of the stock and of the mortgage of $968,000 given to the contractors at the time of the completion of the road, and Mr. Newhall became president of the company. This change in the management of the corporation appeared to be a decidedly favorable one for the counties holding stock, as the head of the concern could be relied upon to give an honest management of affairs as far as the investors were concerned. It was found however to be impossible to come to any arrangement which it was felt would insure safety to the county with the stock still in its possession and it was finally arranged with the owners of the majority of the stock that they should purchase the county stock and surrender the bonds in payment. The final effect of the arrangement was such as to relieve the county from the necessity of arranging for the payment of interest for the present year and to relieve it entirely from the debt. This arrangement was approved and accepted by the Supervisors, who passed a resolution commending Mr. Hawes for the efficiency with which he had managed the transaction. This left the county once more free from debt, with the single exception of some outstanding road warrants.

From the time of the completion of the Congregational Church there was a marked increase in the religious sentiment of the community, and with the advent of the Spring of 1865 Redwood City boasted of no less than four denominations holding regular services. At the meeting of the Supervisors in April permission was granted to the members of the Episcopal Church to use the upper story of the Courthouse for their services, and some changes were made in tte arrangements of the large room or hall so as to fit it for religious purposes. Besides the services at the Congregational Church conducted by the pastor, Rev. W. C. Bartlett, Rev. G. B. Bowman, of the Methodist Church, held services every Sunday morning at the Courthouse. The services of the Episcopal Church were being held up to this time in the school house, conducted by Rev. A. L. Brewer, the services for the Catholic community were held at least once each month by Father Dempsey. In addition to this the Union Sabbath School, which had been organized for several years, continued its meetings regularly, using the church for the purpose.

Carroll Must Ship.

J. J. Carroll who has been incarcerated at the county jail for the past two months charged with robbing a companion at San Mateo of a watch and $10 in coin had his trial Saturday. Carroll pleaded drunkenness and his alleged victim admitted that he also was "soused" and was unable to say positively that Carroll picked his pockets. It was agreed by District Attorney Bullock, the court consenting, to reduce the charge to petty larceny to which Carroll pleaded guilty, with the understanding that he go to sea, he being a sailor. The district attorney will see that Carroll signs articles for a long voyage.

Chink Gets Five Years.

Lum Sing, a Chinese who killed a fellow countryman on the Carolan place at Burlingame two years ago, and was arrested by Sheriff Chatham in Oakland recently, pleaded guilty to a charge of manslaughter in the Superior Court, Saturday and was sentenced to five years imprisonment in San Quentin by Judge Buck. The crime was committed during a quarrel. Sing is an outlaw among the Chinese, and was given no assistance by them during his trial. Attorney Mansfield was appointed by the court to conduct the defense.

Way Open to Prosperity.

Now that the masses have had an opportunity to become familiar with the provisions and requirements of the new tariff law, the way has been cleared for the resumption of business throughout the country, and there is every reason to hope for a return of the times of prosperity, both for the mechanic and the capitalist. Manufacturing can be resumed with confidence for the future, and within a short time there must be an increased demand for labor, both skilled and unskilled.

The Bill as finally passed is essentially a Republican measure, and the leaders and members of that party have no reason to be ashamed of their work. In general, it must be admitted that the measure is a good and wise one. True, it may not meet the expectations of those who over liberally construed the promises of a downward revision. This would be a physical impossibility. At the same time it must be accepted by the unbiased thinker as the best that could be provided under the largely diversified conditions and demands of a country as extensive as this of ours, with its multiplicity of interests, and the demands upon the National treasury.

Reductions have been made in a vast number of commodities, and in many instances of a very material rate. These at least, have been sufficient to justify the assertion that the measure is a substantial reduction, especially as regards that class of imports which may by any proper classification be enumerated as in the list of necessaries of life.

That the consumer will not in every case receive the benefits of these reductions must perhaps be admitted. This however is no fault of the law. Manufacturers will, in spite of any possible action by Congress or the President, seek to maintain as nearly as possible their present prices and thus arrogate to themselves the benefits of these reductions. This state of affairs, fortunately, can continue but a comparatively short time. Equally is it true that we cannot expect a return to the gederal low standard of prices of a few years ago. Nor is it best for the country at large that we should do so. At the present time labor as a rule is much better paid and this of necessity must result in an increased cost of production, both as regards manufactured goods and the raw material.

D. E. O'KEEFE, Editor and Proprietor

Will some man—young or old—possessed of some little energy and lots of courage, kindly aply for appointment to the position of poundmaster of this city. By so doing he will relieve the Trustees of a considerable worry, and confer a favor upon the people who dislike the idea of having their lawns used as cow pastures by inconsiderate neighbors.

Every resident of this city should heartily co-operate with the authorities in their desire for the observance of the garbage ordinance. While the plan adopted is far from an ideal one, it is the best that could be devised under the present circumstances, and if properly observed will do much to improve the sanitary conditions of the city. The expense of providing the necessary receptacles for refuse and its weekly disposition will be small in comparison with the lessened danger of unhealthful conditions.

A Serious Question.

That San Mateo County needs better roads and more of them, no one at all familiar with general conditions will question. That in the end the most feasible plan for the securing of this desirable improvement will be the issuance of bonds, will probably be found true. The members of the Board of Supervisors, however, should consider carefully before countenancing even the initial expense of developing the plans at present proposed.

If bonds are issued by the County, their ultimate liquidation must of necessity be met by the entire people of the county, and all should be alike enabled to participate in the benefits to be derived. Under the proposed plan of construction of an automobile boulevard this can hardly be possible, in fact the greater portion of the benefit must accrue to the property immediately adjacent to the proposed road. Not only can the proposed road be of no benefit to the farmer who has produce to haul to market where it may be disposed of, but it can be of but little use to the more fortunate resident who may desire to enjoy a short outing, unless he happens to be the owner of an automobile, especially under present conditions which seem to require that these machines should demand the entire right of way.

So far but one route for the proposed highway has been suggested, and from the fact that this avoids the present county road for the greater portion of the distance through the county, it is evident that the chief design is to provide a boulevard for the almost exclusive use of the automobilist, without consideration of the convenience or benefit of the communities which must be called upon to pay the greater portion of the expense of its construction. Even such important cities as Burlingame, San Mateo, Redwood City and Menlo Park are left from one to three miles from the proposed route. By what right of either rhyme or reason can the people of these places be asked to pay for a road of which under the best of circumstances they cannot have convenient use. More than this, what possible benefit can result to the people of the coastside from the construction of such a highway as is proposed. By what possible method of reasoning can the people of Pescadero or Halfmoon Bay be asked to bear the expense of the building of an automobile boulevard along the westerly side of the county, when it is admitted that the wagon roads in that important section are scercely fit for their ordinary uses.

Taft A Reconstructionist.

In commenting upon the utterances of President Taft during his present tour of the West, the San Jose Herald says that next, perhaps, to the frankness of the President's speeches in defense of his administration and the work of Congress, in the section where there has been most apparent dissatisfaction with the course of events at Washington, the most noteworthy feature of his tour has been his readiness to indicate what he would do, if power were wholly in his hands, to better conditions which he see are in need of mending. He does not say that there ought to be a radical change without explaining how it should be brought about—a habit much too common among critics of institutions and policies. Mr. Taft does not forget that where there is a tearing down there must also be a building up, to meet the needs of the country.

If the present administration shall continue to be dominated by this habit of constructive work—bettering what ought to be improved by putting something more effective and satisfactory in its place, there will be increasing reason to expect the wide personal popularity of the President to continue through his term and culminate in a general demand for his re-election. It is of no purpose to cry out against the existing abuses and evils if no way of righting the wrongs indicated is suggested.

The President has a definite idea of what he wants the country to have in the way of currency reform, the strengthening of the legal machinery for regulating interstate commerce, the modernizing and improving of methods of court proceedure to the end that justice may be surer, quicker and less expensive, and the holding in check of further tariff legislation until the new law shall have had a full and fair trial The fact that he has a constructive and definite program will do much to influence action by Congress and prevent stagnation where change is needed.

Murder is Suspected.

The unknown man who was found on the Southern Pacific right of way near the San Carlos pumping station a week ago last Friday and who died in the Red Cross hospital last Tuesday, September 21, has develoved into a mystery.

A coroner's inquest was held last Friday evening at which it was decided that the man was not struck by the train but was murdered and brought to the right of way to remove suspicion. No bruises were on his body the only wounds were three deep gashes on his head.

An effort is being made today to locate the men who notified the train crew and it is expected that they will have them by tomorrow afternoon at 2:30.

As yet the man has not been identified, as he had no papers or anything in his possession that would lead to his identification.—San Mateo Leader.

In order that all may have an apportunity to participte in the reception to President Taft, the Southern Pacific has made an excursion rate of a fare and one third for the round trip to San Francisco. Tickets sold October 4th and 5th, good for return on the 6th.

Edmunds Acquitted by Jury.

John B. Edmonds, charged with robbing Tim Heffimer, an Oregon woodman of $40 at Colma a month ago was tried in the Superior Court Wednesday and acquitted. Heffiner charged at the preliminary examination that he was lured from San Francisco into this county by a stranger on the promise that he would see an airship. When he and his companion reached the cemeteries they were met by Edmonds and after a brief conversation a game of [illegible] was proposed in which the victim lost $40. Heffiner raised a hue and cry that he had been robbed whereupon a burly individual who called himself an officer appeared on the scene and threatened to arrest him on a charge of attempting to rob the other parties. He was scared off for the time but later on swore to a warrant for the arrest of Edmonds. At the examination in Justice McSweeney's court he gave his testimony and Edmonds was held for trial. Since that time he disappeared and was not present in court yesterday. His testimony was read to the jury.

WEAK KIDNEYS MAKE WEAK BODIES.

Kidney Diseases Cause Half the Common Aches and Ills of Redwood City People.

As one weak link weakens a chain, so weak kidneys weaken the whole body and hasten the final breaking down.

Overwork, strains, colds and other causes injure the kidneys, and when their activity is lessened the whole body suffers from the excess of uric poison circulated in the blood.

Aches and pains and languor and urinary ills come, and there is an ever increasing tendency towards diabetes and fatal Bright's disease. There is no real help for the sufferer except kidney help.

Doan's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys and cure every kidney ill. Redwood City cures are the proof.

Fred Haussler, 101 Stambaugh st., Redwood City, Cal., says: Doan's Kidney Pills are certainly worthy of the highest praise. My kidneys did not seem to act properly and the secretions were very unnatural. When Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention, I procured a box at P. A Ryan's drug store. The results of their use were most satisfactory. I advise anyone suffering from kidney trouble to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
